GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

A Democratic Mob.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—The democratic delegate elections to-day were attended with much disorder. The 5th ward convention was broken up by a mob from the 4th ward, and several of their men were shot, one Dan Reilly dying on the way to the hospital.

Still Unsettled.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 3.—The governor and council have been in session all the forenoon and till 1 o'clock, when they adjourned. They allowed the returns of the county officers to be examined by senators and representatives-elect, or their attorneys, but refused to exhibit the returns of votes on senators and representatives. Just before adjournment they declined as at present advised, to exhibit the returns of votes on senators and representatives, as they have no power under the constitution to alter, correct, or substitute returns, and therefore it would be no use to exhibit them.

Oliver Wendell Holmes.

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—The 70th anniversary of the birthday of Oliver Wendell Holmes was commemorated to-day by a breakfast and reception, which was attended by a large number of prominent literati. Many letters of regrets, including one from the president, as follows:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
Washington, Nov. 25, 1869.

GENTLEMEN—I am obliged to you for inviting me to the breakfast in honor of the 70th birthday of Dr. Holmes. Nobody enjoyed his breakfast table for some years more than I did. Seventy used to seem a great age, but I can't think of Dr. Holmes as growing old. I am sorry I can't enjoy his breakfast with him. May he still live many years, happy himself, and as he always has been, making others happy. Sincerely,

R. B. HAYES.

Election.

[illegible], Dec. 3.—At the municipal election to-day the republican city ticket was elected by an average majority of 1300.

A Scandalous Expose.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 2.—The report of the committee appointed by the supervisors to investigate the management of the Milwaukee house of correction, states that the charges have been substantiated that cruelty, neglect, incompetency and filth have prevailed, and that prisoners have been severely maltreated. Haas and Kennedy, inspectors and wardens, are condemned severely, and a recommendation is made that a thorough reconstruction of the system be made.

Keene Thinks Stocks too High.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—James Keene is reported as having said to day, that he thought [illegible] had done well in his sale in Central, and would probably also sell some Lake Shore and Michigan Central, which are entirely too high. The first thing holders of [illegible] will know, it will be down to $75. [illegible] middle of next month the Grand Trunk will have completed its line to Chicago, and taken at least one-quarter of the Michigan Central's business. The values of [illegible] are too high. He predicted a grand [illegible]. The business of the country is not on a paying basis. The best thing [illegible] is to sell every time a stock [illegible].

French Postal Agents.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Two representatives of the French government are here inspecting postal facilities.

More Money.

The steamship Gen. Werder, from Europe, brought $315,000 of American gold coin.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Republican Caucus.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The republican senators held a caucus this afternoon and appointed a committee, consisting of Messrs. [illegible] and Rollins, the subject of filling the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Chandler in the membership on the committees on commerce and naval affairs. The committee will also take cognizance of interests that may be represented by members of the minority for exchanges of committee position.

Senatorial Caucuses.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The democratic senators met in caucus this morning. There was a full attendance. Senator Wallace, chairman of the caucus, announced that the caucus had been called as usual at the beginning of the session to consider the subject of the democratic membership of the committees prior to reappointment by the senate. Vacancies having been created by the resignation in the democratic membership during the recess of congress, and there being no applications presented to-day, it was resolved that the minority representation shall remain as fixed at the last session, and the chairman was directed to notify the republicans that the vacant positions occupied by the late Senator Chandler are at the disposal of the majority.

A general discussion then ensued concerning the distribution of the senate patronage. Several senators complained that it had not been equitably distributed, and when the officers of the senate were asked the subject they referred to the resolution of last year which bound them to retain certain employes except in case of misconduct, and contended that the remainder of the patronage they had done the best they could. The question under these resolutions was then discussed. There was no disposition manifested to interfere with the one by which the officers were required to retain all disabled soldiers that were on the roll, but it was remarked that there are still employed by the senate a number of men put in office by republicans who were not in the army in any capacity, and a desire was expressed by some of the members to replace them with democrats. After some discussion the resolution providing an inquiry into the nature of the places given by the caucus last session and other resolutions providing especially for the retention of Captain Bissell and other old employes in case any changes are made, were referred to the committee on organization created last session, to be reported on hereafter.

The republican senators hold their caucus this afternoon. There is no doubt Senator [illegible] of Michigan, will be assigned to the places held by his predecessor.

Committee Work.

The house appropriations committee to-day were unanimous in desiring an early consideration of the appropriation bills. The deficiency appropriation bill for the pay of marshals and their deputies will doubtless be the first provided for. It was thoroughly discussed.

The house elections committee this morning had 16 contested cases to be disposed of. The only one acted on was that of McCabe, democrat, vs. Orth, republican, from the Indiana district, in which the decision of whether McCabe be allowed further time was postponed until Friday. The others are in conditions of forwardness [illegible] being ready for the committee.

McDowell vs. Whiteaker.

In the case of McDowell vs. Whiteaker, of Oregon, no evidence or briefs have been presented and it will be dropped.

Indian Legislation.

A bill introduced by Belford to-day for the removal of Utes, provides that all laws creating a reservation for the Utes in Colorado shall be repealed and that the land constituting such reservation shall become public domain. It further provides that the president with the consent of the senate, shall appoint commissioners to select in some territory a reservation for the Utes and make arrangements with them for their peaceful removal, and proposes an appropriation of $[illegible] for the expenses of removal.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Yakoob Kahn's Departure.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The Post commenting on Yakoob Kahn's departure from Cabul, says this news is of great significance. It probably means Afghanistan [illegible] the last of its [illegible]. It is [illegible] of not actual punishment be[illegible] for Yakoob for his [illegible] of the massacre of the embassy. The exact part he played may never be known. A commission of inquiry are reported to have found it absolutely impossible to have evidence that would justly incriminate him for the major offense, but there is more than enough to establish Yakoob's weakness and culpable negligence.

Not Political.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 3.—Yesterday a man forced his way into the hall of the medical council at the war ministry and wounded four persons with a dagger. The motive which prompted the act was private vengeance and had no political significance.

Commutation—The Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 3.—The sentence of death passed by the military court upon the Nihilist Mirski, convicted of attempting the assassination of Gen. Drentelin, has been commuted to hard labor in the Siberian mines for an indefinite period.

The czar has arrived at Moscow.

A Vote Demanded.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—The papers announce that at yesterday's cabinet council, it was resolved to [illegible] directly demand a vote of confidence from the chamber of deputies.

The French Crisis.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—A correspondent at Paris, discussing the statement of the Journal des Debats that the ministry cannot possibly entertain the scheme of the programme for their acceptance, says this is the only possible course open to the cabinet after the unexpected attitude assumed by the majority. Nobody will be able to comprehend how the minority, so strong as that of the present chamber of deputies on which the government has been leaning for ten months, can declare that it will not support this very cabinet, except on the condition of framing the programme and imposing this on it, for every individual deputy has the right of submitting an army bill, and an interpellation followed by the order of the day is a device only to enable the majority to show the ministry the withdrawal of its confidence. In discussing the probable vote of confidence, which will end the crisis by consolidating the ministry, the correspondent says: It seems beyond a doubt this vote will be given, because the left is not acting in common accord. A certain faction of the majority will resist the fame of the cabinet and will force the majority not to upset the ministry which Gambetta does not wish to succeed, and whose only successor, apart from Gambetta could be Defreycinet, and this would always enable Gambetta to wait his own time.

Russian Reforms.

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—A dispatch says the czar will inform the nobility of Moscow, at his reception to-day of his determination to call a number of unofficial advisors to assist him in the government of the empire. The council will be purely deliberative without any right of control or interference, and will be chosen partly by suffrages of the middle and peasant classes, and partly by direct nomination, by the czar, from the ranks of hereditary nobility. Other measures of local reform will also be announced. These innovations have been strongly advocated by the czarowitch.

Socialism in Germany.

In the Prussian diet to-day, Count Von Eulenburg, minister of the interior, in replying to the questions as to the reasons for the continuance of the minor state of seige, declared that the same state of things that was prevalent a year still existed. Secret social democratic agitation, he said, had increased and connections with foreign agitators were maintained.

The Pope's Infallibility.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—A dispatch from Paris says that the archbishop of Mechlin, Belgium, in a recent pastoral, asserts that the pope is not infallible except when he judges what rests on the testimony of God and that of his revealed truth or his revealed law. This is intended to rebut the charge that the Belgian bishops are guilty of a schism or disobedience in disregarding the pope's admonitions, respecting the educational agitation.

The bishop of Tournay, the most violent opponent of the liberal cabinet has been superceded by the administrator appointed by the pope. The bishop's mind is believed to be unsound.

War in West Africa.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—News is received at Liverpool that war has broken out between the rival chiefs in New Calabar, West Africa, and that 200 persons have been slain and wounded, and prisoners killed and eaten. The Europeans in New Calabar have requested the British naval officer to interfere, as it is apprehended the outbreak will spread.

Another Attempt.

BERLIN, Dec. 3.—Emperor William has just received a dispatch announcing a fresh attempt upon the life of the czar at Moscow. An infernal machine was exploded on his passage. Fortunately it did not burst until his majesty had passed. The czar escaped without injury.

Interview.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—A correspondent at Berlin reports that Prince Gortschakoff has had an interview with Count Stolberg Wernerner, the Prussian minister of state.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Settled at Last.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—The arguments on the question of whether the old or the new city officials have a right to their seats between the present date and the first Monday in January were continued before the supreme court this morning. After recess this afternoon Judge Wallace said that the decision of the lower court, which gives the offices to the new officers, was affirmed, and that the decision would be filed to-morrow or the following day. This decision places the new officers in their positions from 12 o'clock yesterday. There was a general feeling of relief around the new city hall when the news was telephoned that the supreme court had decided in favor of the incoming officials. In anticipation of the decision all the old officers located at the city hall affected by the decision were prepared to take leave of their offices, and had their records and books in a condition to be examined, so that nothing was really left to do but to make the formal transfer. In the treasurer's office the money will have to be counted which will necessarily consume a day or two, and before the old treasurer turns over the treasury to his successor, he will require some twenty-five or thirty receipts for moneys and other valuables transferred.

To-night Mayor Bryant will read his farewell message and Mayor Kalloch will deliver his inaugural address. The old supervisors will introduce their successors with the customary compliments of the occasion, and peace will reign at the city hall after the long contest.

The New Regime.

At a meeting to-day the new directors of the Hale & Norcross—Messrs. R. H. Follis, Con O'Connor, George Wallace, John G. Congdon and George R. Wells—resigned and were succeeded by E. Norton, W. S. Hobart, Walter E. Sell, Charles T. Bridge and Wm. Kohl, who represent the Haywood Graves regime. Messrs. George Congdon, president, and Sol Heydenfeldt, secretary of the old board, remain. Mr. Sell was elected vice president. Joel F. Lightner will continue as secretary.

Mexican Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Mexican Mining Company to-day the old officers were re-elected. Disbursements for the year were nearly $[illegible], Overdraft due the Nevada Bank, $27,800. The superintendent in his report, after reviewing the operations of the year closes: "Although no actual developments of value have been made in the mine during the past year, yet [illegible] [illegible] ..." [illegible]

Assessment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—[illegible] levied an assessment of [illegible] cents.

Dividend.

Standard declares a dividend of [illegible].

Frightful Accident.

A Virginia dispatch says one of the [illegible] at the [illegible] shaft on changing the shift this morning ran away [illegible]. [illegible] men were in the cage and on the skip [illegible]. Nearly all were more or less [illegible]. [illegible] has since died. Several others, it is feared, are fatally hurt. The engineer left immediately after the accident. A committee of miners are looking after him.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.

[illegible] introduced the following joint resolution:

WHEREAS, The project of the construction of an interoceanic canal in Nicaragua is recognized as a necessity for the prosperity of the commerce of the world and the development of maritime and commercial interests of the United States; and,

WHEREAS, Such enterprise must of necessity be considered as of international utility and under the protection of the United States, therefore

Be it resolved, etc., That the government of the United States pledges to accord a full and entire protection to the company which shall be granted the concession by the government of Nicaragua for the construction of said interoceanic canal, and will secure to such company peaceful enjoyment of the rights conceded by such concession.

Referred to the committee on canals.

Wallace offered a resolution continuing for the present session the standing and select committees appointed at the last session with but two changes, namely, Key to take the place of Chandler on the committee on naval affairs, and Baldwin to take the place of Chandler on the committee on commerce. Adopted.

Teller offered a resolution calling on the president for information as to whether any money due the Ute Indians under agreement of Sept. 13, 1873, has remained unpaid as claimed by those Indians, and also the nature of the investments made for the Utes under that agreement.

On motion of Davis, of West Virginia, the resolution offered by him yesterday, calling on the secretary of the treasury for a detailed statement of expenditures since 1861 under the permanent annual appropriations was agreed to.

When the appointed time arrived Burnside called up his resolution of last session reaffirming the Monroe doctrine in connection with the Darien canal. He said the practically the question was whether the canal should be built under the protection of this or of a foreign government. It had been said that it was a question of power—in other words, that European governments would, by force of arms if necessary, control this thoroughfare. This he thought would be impossible. In case of war we could by patriotic effort, arm 1,000,000 men, and by the aid of modern improvements in engineering we could prevent any foreign war vessel from entering our harbor. It would be impossible to transport an land men enough to overcome us. Although the Monroe doctrine had never been put on the statute books, it was a part of our unwritten law. He showed that our greatest statesmen had declared its wisdom and approved its aim. We had put it into practice with regard to foreign interference in Mexico, and could it be possible that we would permit a European power, or any company under European influence, to construct a canal across the isthmus which would be so useful in time of peace and so important in time of war? Its construction in such a manner would be fatal to the development of American ideas on which are founded our hopes of future welfare. A grave responsibility would rest upon congress should it now abandon to chance or circumstance the maintenance of our supremacy on this continent.

The senate went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened adjourned.

House.

Ellis introduced the following joint resolution, which was referred to the committee on foreign affairs:

WHEREAS, The project for constructing an interoceanic canal via Nicaragua, is recognized as a necessity for the prosperity of the commerce of the world and the development of the maritime and commercial interests of the United States and,

WHEREAS, such an enterprise must of necessity be considered of international utility under protection of the government of United States, therefore,

Resolved, That the government of the United States pledges itself to accord full and entire protection to the company to which shall be granted by the government of Nicaragua the concession for the construction of said inter oceanic canal. And will secure to said company the successful enjoyment of the rights conceded by such grants.

Price offered the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, Eleven months of trial has demonstrated conclusively that the resumption of specie payments on the 1st of Jan., 1879, has been a success and equal to the hopes of the most sanguine friends of that measure; and

WHEREAS, It has been equally well and fully established during the same period that as a nation we have the ability to keep in circulation at par with coin $350,000,000 in U. S. notes commonly called greenbacks; and

WHEREAS, Under the operation of these in connection with the coinage of silver dollars, the financial and commercial interests of the country in the last eleven months have attained a degree of prosperity unequaled in any similar period of the last 20 years; therefore

Be it resolved, That it is the opinion of the house, sound policy demands and safe legislation requires that no change be made at this session of congress with regard to and of measures referred to. That in view of the present prosperous condition of the country financially, we should let well enough alone.

He desired to obtain a vote upon the resolutions, but demands for regular order being made on the democratic side, it was referred.

Thompson, of Kentucky, introduced a private claim bill, which he desired to have referred to the committee on judiciary.

This was objected to by Conger, who thought that as the bill was a war claim, it should go to the committee on war claims, and he made that motion. The motion was agreed to—Yeas, 111; nays, 111, and the bill was referred to the committee on war claims.

White introduced a joint resolution proposing constitutional amendments, providing that the general appropriation bills shall contain nothing but appropriations, and giving power to the president to disapprove of any separate item of a bill without thereby defeating the entire bill; referred.

Fort offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That any attempt to withdraw or change the legal status and quantity of any paper money issued by the United States or repeal by legislation the currency questions settled by decisions of the supreme court, and universally adopted and approved by the people would be injurious and mischievous, and could only result in disturbing business and retarding returning prosperity, and this house is especially opposed to any such legislation; referred.

The following bills were introduced and referred.

By Belford—To remove Ute Indians from Colorado.

By Young—Relating to the crime of bigamy.

By Harris—Revising the statutes so as to provide that deputy marshals shall be selected from different political parties.

By Speer—Prohibiting dress parade of the army on the sabbath day.

By Buckner—for inquiry as to the advisability of imposing a tax on the consumption of whisky, instead of on its manufacture.

By Mccord—Proposing the following additional article to the constitution: Congress, in protection of trade and manufacture, and to carry into effect international treaties, shall have the power to grant, protect and regulate exclusive right to the use of trade marks; adjourned.

By De La Matyr—Directing an investigation into the removal of the Poncas.

By Weaver—For the relief of soldiers and sailors of the rebellion, and to restore them to equal rights with holders of government bonds.

By Good—A resolution for the appointment of a committee of 13, to consider the erection of a monument at Yorktown according to a resolution of the continental congress of 1781; adopted.

Hunton offered a resolution calling on the secretary of state for a copy of all correspondence between the state department and J. S. Mosby relative to the consulate at Hongkong; adopted.

By Harris—For the construction of narrow gauge railway from tide water to St. Louis.

By Garfield—To facilitate refunding. It authorizes the secretary of the treasury to exchange directly at par four per cent bonds for any bonds outstanding which may come due hereafter.

CANADA.

The Poor of Ireland.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—The St. Patrick's society had a meeting for the purpose of devising means for the relief of the poor of the south western portion of Ireland, and decided to give a public entertainment, and with the co-operation of the various national societies in the city, to assist in making the affair a success.

Killed by Indians.

The department of the interior received a dispatch to-day informing them of the death of Sergeant Grayburn of the mounted police. The body was picked up near Fort Walsh. It is thought he was murdered by Indians.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Lumber Shipments.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., Dec. 3.—Lumber shipments from this port to Europe for the past eleven months amount to 143,000,000 superficial feet.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting of Board of Managers.

NO INTOXICATING LIQUORS TO BE SOLD ON THE FAIR GROUNDS NEXT YEAR—[illegible] FOR TROTTING AND RUNNING—FINANCIAL MATTERS, ETC.

SALEM, Dec. 3.

The board of managers of the State Agricultural society convened in this city yesterday, the following members being present: M. Wilkins, president; E. M. Waite, secretary; A. R. Wilcoxon, P. M. Rinearson, J. H. Lambert, Geo. Belknap, [illegible] Burkhart, Jas. Hamilton, [illegible] Geer, [illegible] McKee, Robert Imbrie, Robert Mays and [illegible] Galloway. The day was mostly consumed in listening to the reports of officers, which will be published in THE OREGONIAN to-day, and in a revision of the premium list.

It was resolved to issue no more liquor licenses of any description whatever hereafter. This has been made necessary by the unwarranted abuse of the license heretofore granted for the sale of beer and cider, and it is now proposed to stop the traffic of intoxicating liquors of all kinds within the grounds.

The rates of admission remain practically the same as heretofore, with the exception of permitting children under 12 years of age to pass in free, instead of charging all over eight years of age admission, as heretofore. Season tickets will be issued as usual, but holders thereof will be compelled to write their own name thereon, as well as enter their names in a register kept for that purpose, and the ticket, being presented by any one other than to whom it was issued, will be at once taken up and destroyed.

The entrance fees of articles in the ladies and misses departments will be 10 per cent, of the premium offered instead of 20 per cent as heretofore.

The question as to the time for holding the next annual fair elicited no little discussion, and the almost universal expression was in favor of holding it in July, commencing on the 2d inst., and closing on the 8th, which time will, without doubt, be decided upon before the board adjourns.

We learn, incidentally, that funds have been offered the society at advantageous rates with which to pay off their outstanding warrants, those in the hands of original holders at par and those that have been disposed of at 90 cents on the dollar. No action in the matter has, as yet been taken by the board.

A committee was appointed to confer with the board of directors of the Oregon Pioneer Association for the purpose of agreeing, if possible, upon a time for holding their annual reunions together. The constitution of the Pioneer Association sets the time for their annual reunion and the directors had no authority to change the same.

The following is the list of purses offered by the State Agricultural Society for contests of speed at their next annual fair.

TROTTING.

Purse $500, free for all mile heats, three in five; first horse, $400; 2d, $100.

Purse $[illegible], free for stallions owned in the state, Washington and Idaho included; single dash of one mile.

Post stakes for three year olds, $30 entrance, half forfeit; $200 added by the association.

Purse $250, for horses that have never beaten 3:10, mile heats, three in five.

Purse $200 for 2:40 class, mile heats three in five; $75 to second.

Purse $[illegible] for 2:30 class; two miles and repeat; $250 to first, $100 to second, and $50 to third horse.

RUNNING.

Purse $300, free for all Oregon, Washington and Idaho bred horses, $200 to first and $100 to second; mile and repeat.

Purse $[illegible], free to all, 1¼ mile.

Post stake, for three year olds, $30 entrance, half forfeit. $300 added by association; first horse two thirds of stake; second horse, two-thirds balance; and third horse the remainder; free for all other than thoroughbreds; entrance closes May 1st, 1880.

OREGON PIONEER ASSOCIATION.

Meeting of the Directors at Salem—Next Re-union to be held in Portland June 15, 1880—Hon. J. W. Nesmith Selected to Deliver Annual Address.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SALEM, Dec. 2, 1879.

The board of directors of the Oregon Pioneer Association met at the secretary's office at 11 o'clock A. M., and was called to order by Hon. John W. Grim, vice president.

Present—F. X. Matthieu, Jos. Watt of the board of directors, and J. Henry Brown recording secretary. Absent, M. Crawford president, and Thos. Monteith of directors, J. M. Bacon treasurer.

The question of locating the place of holding the next annual re-union, being the first business, the following proposition was placed before the board for consideration:

PORTLAND, Oregon, Dec. 1, 1879.

Jos. Watt, Esq., Director of Pioneer Association of Oregon: At your request I have seen a number of leading citizens, and am authorized to say that if you will hold your next meeting of the association at Portland, the Mechanics' pavilion, together with music for street parade and hall, will be furnished free of charge. Respectfully yours,

AL. ZIEBER.

A committee on behalf of the Oregon Agricultural society called to confer with this association in regard to holding the annual reunion with their society during their state fair, commencing the first week in July, 1880, but after a short conference it was found that the constitution would not admit of the change.

After some discussion the subject of location was laid on the table until evening.

Adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On motion Hon. J. W. Nesmith was chosen to deliver the annual address.

On motion Rev. G. H. Atkinson was chosen to deliver an occasional address, pertaining to 1848.

Rev. J. [illegible] Griffin was chosen chaplain, and Al. Zieber chief marshal. G. W. Ebert, of Hillsboro; J. P. Holman, of Salem, and Don. Cornelius, of Forest Grove, were chosen standard bearers.

EVENING SESSION.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. President M. Crawford, who arrived on the evening train, in the chair. The subject of locating the next annual reunion was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Watt, it was decided that the next annual reunion be held at Portland, on Tuesday, June 15, 1880, and that the proposition made by the citizens of that city be accepted.

On motion, M. Crawford, F. X. Matthieu and J. Watt were appointed a committee on printing, and were instructed to have 1000 copies of the proceedings of 1879 printed, and were authorized to receive bids for the work.

The price of tickets to the Pioneer's ball was fixed at $2, and not to include supper.

Adjourned.

M. CRAWFORD, Pres't.
J. HENRY BROWN, Sec'y.

James K. Kelly & Aaron E. Wait v. The same. No. 302. The same.

(1) GRANT TO MISSIONS IN OREGON. The grant to religious societies of mission stations in Oregon, contained in § 1 of the act of August 14, 1848 (9 Stat. 370) is not confined to a single station to each society, but includes as many stations as were then actually occupied by each society for missionary purposes among the Indians.

(2) PATENT—[illegible]. A patent issued under § 2447 of the R. S. upon a survey not approved by the surveyor general is void, and in case of a grant [illegible] of August 14, 1848, the survey [illegible] the determination of the question, What is the quantity and boundary of the claim?

(3) MISSION STATION. The grant to religious societies contained in the act aforesaid of the missionary stations occupied by them in Oregon on August 14, 1848, not exceeding 640 acres, is not confined to the land actually enclosed and cultivated by them, but should be construed to include the maximum quantity [illegible] such station occupied by them. It is, rather, land in any way used by them and not in the actual occupation of any one else.

(4) OCCUPATION OF MISSION STATION. Occupancy is a word of narrower signification than possession, and means to possess by laying hold of or being actually upon the thing possessed, continuously and exclusively; prior to August 14, 1848, the title to all lands in Oregon was in the United States, and there are no person could have constructive possession of any portion thereof or any possession thereof or interest therein except actual possession or occupancy, and when this was given up or abandoned the relation of the party to the land was absolutely terminated.

(5) MISSION STATION AT THE DALLES. The Missionary Society of the M. E. Church established a mission among the Indians at Wascopam near the Grand Dalles of the Columbia in 1838, and in September 1847, abandoned and transferred the same to Dr. Whitman of the Presbyterian mission at Wailatpu and never reoccupied the same: Held, that the society did not receive a grant of said station under § 1 of the act of August 14, 1848, because it was not at that date in the actual possession and occupation of the premises—that such occupation was a condition precedent to the taking effect of such grant, and therefore it mattered not whether the failure of the society to occupy the station in August, 1848, was voluntary or was caused by the fear of hostile Indians.

(6) PAYMENT BY CONGRESS. The payment by congress to the missionary society of $20,000, in June 1860 on account of the reservation of 353 acres of The Dalles mission station in March, 1850, for military purposes and the loss or destruction of property thereon since 1847 by Oregon volunteers, Indians or United States troops, did not have the effect to vest this society with the title to such station then or on August 14, 1848; nor was it even an admission that the society had any legal right to the premises, but only that it asserted some kind of a claim thereto which it was deemed expedient to extinguish; nor could congress in June, 1860 by a direct recognition of a prior grant to the society, affect the rights of others already acquired in the premises under the town site and donation acts.

DEADY, J.

These three suits were commenced on September 18, 1877, in the circuit court for the state, in the county of Wasco. The summons was served by publication and on September 12 the defendant appeared and had the causes removed to this court, where they were entered on January 30, 1878.

On April 9, there was a demurrer filed to each complaint which was disallowed, and thereupon, by the direction of the court, on May 2, the plaintiffs in each suit restated their case in the manner of a formal bill in equity. On August 12 the defendant answered the bills, and on September 20 the plaintiffs filed the general replication. In the course of the proceedings, exceptions for impertinence were taken to both the bills and the answers which were disallowed and questions raised thereby, reserved for consideration upon the final hearing.

On October 15, 1879, the causes were heard together upon the several bills, answers, replications and the exhibits and depositions in each, and in No. 300 so far as they were applicable to the other two.

Before touching the grounds of the controversy between the parties it may be well to state their respective cases so far as they rest upon either the admitted facts or those established beyond controversy.

The defendant is a corporation formed under the laws of New York, and from 1838 to September 1847 maintained a mission among the Wascopam Indians on the south bank of the Columbia river, at the lower end of the Grand Dalles thereof, at a place since called "The Dalles," in what is now Wasco county; and on July 9, 1875, received a patent from the United States under § 2447 of the R. S. for a tract of land containing 643 37 acres, including the ground occupied by the improvements made at such mission—less 350 acres thereof included in the military reservation—the same being parts of sections 3 and 4 in T. 1 N., of R. 13 W., and section 33 in T. 2 N., of R. 13 W. of the Wallamet meridian, as a mission station occupied by it on August 14, 1848, within the purview of the second proviso to § 1 of the act of that date "to establish the territorial government of Oregon" (9 Stat., 323;) which provides "That the title to the land, not exceeding 640 acres, now occupied as missionary stations among the Indian tribes of said territory, together with the improvements thereon, be confirmed and established in the several religious societies to which said missionary stations respectively belong."

The plaintiffs claim that the defendant did not occupy this tract or any portion of it as a missionary station or otherwise on August 14, 1848, or since September, 1847, and that therefore it was not within the purview of said proviso and the patent to the defendant was wrongfully issued; and also that they are the owners of and entitled to the patent for certain portions of said tract, as hereinafter stated, and ask to have their several rights therein established and declared, and that the defendant be so far regarded as their trustee and required to convey to them accordingly.

In 1852 the place called "The Dalles" was occupied as a town site for the purpose of business and trade, and has been so occupied ever since; and in 1855 the county of Wasco caused the same to be surveyed into lots, blocks and streets, and said survey to be recorded; that on January 26, 1857, the plaintiff in 300—Dalles City—was made a municipal corporation with boundaries including said town site; and on April 18, 1860, entered at the proper land office, the fractional N. W. ¼ of said section 3, containing 112 acres and including the land so occupied as a town site, under the town site law of May 23, 1844, (5 Stat., 657; 10 Stat., 306), in trust for the several use and benefit of the occupants thereof according to their respective interests, and now claims to be the owner thereof accordingly.

On November 1, 18[illegible], Winsor D. Bigelow became a settler under the donation act upon 320 acres of the public land including parts of the N. W. ¼ and the S. W. ¼ of said section 3, and now known upon the plats of the public surveys as donation claim No. 49, and resided upon and cultivated the same until February 16, 1850, and otherwise complied with the requirements of said act; that on December 9, 1862, said Bigelow conveyed an undivided ½ interest of a certain 27 acres of said donation to James K. Kelly and Aaron E. Wait, plaintiffs in No. 302; and on December 12, 1861, conveyed the remaining ½ of said 27 acres to Orlando Humason, who on September 8, 1873, died intestate, having devised the same to [illegible] Humason his widow, and a plaintiff in No. 301, which 27 acres said plaintiffs, by reason of the premises, claim to own as tenants in common thereof.

On December 2, 18[illegible], said Bigelow conveyed to said Kelly and Wait, the plaintiffs in No. 302 [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the agent of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and then [illegible] Wailatpu, about 140 miles E. N. E. of The Dalles, upon the understanding that the Board would maintain a mission there among the Indians, and that said Whitman would pay [illegible] for certain personal property belonging to the mission; that in [illegible] of said agreement, [illegible] Whitman [illegible] 1847, surrendered the station to said Whitman; that owing to the death of said Whitman on November 29, 1847, said agreement was canceled in 1849, by the surrender of said draft to the agent of said Board and the "retransfer" of said station to the defendant who thereupon resumed control of the same; that in June, 1850, the agent of the defendant went upon the ground and surveyed and marked the boundaries of the claim as he understood them to be, and that in 1854 the Rev. Thomas H. Pearne, its agent, notified the surveyor general of the territory of the claim of the defendant thereto; but said defendant substantially admits that from the delivery of said station to Whitman as aforesaid it never actually occupied the same for mission purposes or otherwise, and claims that it was prevented from so doing by the danger from Indian hostilities, growing out of what is known as the Cayuse war.

The commissioner of the general land office authorized the surveyor-general to hear and determine the conflicting claims of the defendant, Bigelow and Humason, to the premises, and on February 16, 1860, the parties appeared before him, and on February 2, 1861, said officer decided that the defendant had no right to the land in controversy; which decision, on an appeal to the commissioner, was on February 7, 1863, affirmed. From there the case was carried by appeal before the secretary of the interior, who, on March 15, 1875, reversed said decision and decided that the defendant was entitled to the premises as a mission station, and directed a patent to issue to it accordingly.

Section 2447 of the R. S., under which this patent issued to the defendant, is taken from the act of Dec. 22, 1854, authorizing the issue of patents in certain cases, and it only applies where there has been a grant by statute without a provision for the issue of a patent. In such a case the section provides that a patent may issue for the grant "upon a survey thereof, approved by the surveyor general," and "found correct by the commissioner," subject, however, to the qualification, that "such patent shall only operate as a relinquishment of title on the part of the United States, and shall in no manner interfere with any valid adverse right to the same land, nor be construed to preclude a legal investigation and decision by the proper judicial tribunal between adverse claimants to the same land."

The patent in question expressly declares that it is issued to the defendant subject to this qualification. There is then no question in this case of the power of this court to investigate the grounds upon which this patent was issued and to determine that they were insufficient or otherwise, either in law or fact, and decree accordingly. The patent and the subsequent action of the parties has had the effect to remit the case to this forum to try and determine to whom the patent should have issued, for the portions of the tract claimed by the plaintiffs.

It is admitted that the plaintiffs are entitled to the patent for the portions claimed by them unless the defendant was entitled to the tract as a mission station under § 1 of the act of August 14, 1848.

On April 30, 1855, the defendant, by its agent, Rev. Thomas H. Pearne, notified the land department of its claim to a mission station near Salem, in Marion county, the same being parts of sections 23 and 26 in T. 7 S., of R. 3 W. of the Wallamet meridian, and containing 97 39 acres, which claim was allowed.

And now the plaintiffs contend that under the act, a religious society can only receive a grant of one mission station, and the defendant having elected to take the station at Salem, is therefore barred from claiming the one at The Dalles.

I do not think this is the most reasonable construction of the statute. It grants the land "occupied as missionary stations" to the several religious societies to which said stations respectively belong. It is true that this language would be satisfied with the grant of one station to each society. But it is broad enough, in my judgment, to cover more, if more there were, and ought to have effect accordingly, unless there is some controlling reason to the contrary in the circumstances of the case. If it had been the intention of congress to limit the grant to one station to each society such intention would have been more naturally expressed by saying, "the land occupied as a missionary station to each religious society to which such station belongs." And this construction is strengthened rather than otherwise by reference to the surrounding circumstances. For some years prior to the passage of the act of August 14, 1848, there were three religious societies engaged in missionary labors among the Indians in Oregon—the Methodist Episcopal, the Presbyterian and the Roman Catholic. The first missionaries of the former came to Oregon with Wyeth in 1834 and established a mission at Wallamet, below Salem, which was afterwards removed to the latter place. Subsequently their numbers were increased and they established missions at The Dalles, Nisqually and Clatsop. The Presbyterian missionaries came to the country under the auspices of the American Board in 1836, and established a mission at Wailatpu, near what is now called Walla Walla, with Marcus Whitman at its head. Afterwards they established missions at Lapwai and Spokan—all east of the Cascade mountains. The Roman Catholic missionaries came from Canada with the Hudson Bay train in 1838. They established the mission St. Paul in the Wallamet, near Champoeg, and Cowlitz on the Cowlitz river. Later they established missions in Eastern Oregon and held occasional missionary services among the Indians at many points in the country. In June, 1848, they established a mission at The Dalles, to the west and adjoining the land in controversy.

The country in which these grants were made was an immense territory, extending from the 42d to the 49th parallel of north latitude, and reaching from the Rocky mountains to the Pacific ocean. Outside of these missions and the Hudson Bay posts, practically, it was unoccupied, except sparsely in the Wallamet valley. The missionaries were very properly regarded as having promoted the settlement and civilization of the country and there was no reason why, if congress saw proper to recognize their services either as settlers or missionaries by granting them the land occupied by them as mission stations, it should confine the grant to one station to each society when more were occupied by it.

It is also insisted that this patent is void as not having been issued upon "a plat of survey thereof" approved by the surveyor general, but upon the survey made by the agent of the mission, in June, 1850. I think it is plain that a patent issued upon a survey or diagram not approved by the surveyor general would be void. For instance, a patent could not lawfully issue upon the survey of the claim by the society itself, because a survey of the grant involved the question of how much land was occupied by the mission and within what limits. To allow the society to do this would be to make it a judge in its own case.

The grant was only of the land occupied which might be less than 640 acres, and the surveyor general was required to ascertain the quantity and its boundaries before he could approve a survey thereof to enable the department to issue a patent therefor.

When the surveyor general was authorized to hear the contest between these parties, on February 23, 1860, he ordered a deputy surveyor to make a survey of the premises [illegible] [illegible]

Whatever, then, may be thought of the correctness of the survey, the position that the patent was issued without a plat of survey approved by the surveyor general, in the face of these facts, is not tenable.

It is also contended by the plaintiffs that if

RIGHTS ON THE CITY FRONT.

A decision which has not been published, but the importance of which, to the people and the city of Portland, is very great was recently rendered in the circuit court for this county. In reviewing that decision, it is not our purpose to criticise Judge Belinger's construction of the law, or to make any attack upon the court or the parties litigant. The case referred to is that of Price et al vs Knott Bros., upon the correctness of the decision in which depends in a large measure the value of nearly all the property along the city front. As we understand that decision it is to the effect that the owners of the Stark street ferry have the right to land their boat at any and all the streets abutting upon the river, at their option, and for this purpose may tear down the elevated roadways constructed on those streets, between Front street and the river, and dig down the earth so as to form a suitable landing for their ferry boat, and suitable grades and roadways by which vehicles may pass to and from the same.

To conduct the commerce of the city, access to the wharves and docks must be convenient and unobstructed all must admit, as unless the wharves can be reached from the streets they would be entirely useless, and to have this access, it is necessary to construct roadways on piles from 10 to 15 feet above low water mark. Thus it will be seen at once that the decision in question is one of very great importance generally to the city and particularly to the owners of the lots lying between Front street and the river. The parties to the suit in which this decision was rendered, it seems claim the rights substantially as follows:

By city ordinance, approved February 8, 1877, there was granted to the owners and lessees of the property fronting upon the river, on the south side of the foot of Oak street, the right to construct a wharf out into the river in front of their property, and the right to construct an elevated roadway, 15 feet in width, on the south half of said foot of Oak street, on a grade as near the grade of Front street as practicable as a way of access to said wharf.

Among the powers conferred upon the common council by the city charter, is that "to build, construct and regulate landings at the foot of the streets terminating at the Willamette river." This would seem to imply a power on the part of the council to regulate the methods of approach and the grade of the streets or roadways by which such wharves are to be reached, aside from the general jurisdiction over all streets conferred by the charter upon the council. But it seems that the defendants claim that they as owners of the ferry, have rights in this matter which the common council cannot control, among which is the claimed right to land their ferryboat at the foot of any street they may choose, with the accompanying right to demolish any roadway which may obstruct the free use of the foot of the street by them for ferry purposes. And this litigation originated, as we are informed, out of the attempt of the defendants to appropriate the foot of Oak street for a ferry landing and to remove the roadway constructed by one of the plaintiffs to a wharf, both which roadway and wharf it is alleged were erected in accordance with the authority contained in said ordinance.

This claim is based upon the provisions of an act of the territorial legislature passed January 17, 1852, by which was granted to James B. Stephens (the then owner of the ferry), his heirs and assigns, the right to establish and keep a ferry across the river at this city and to land on each shore of the river, for the distance of one mile up and down the river from the street in Portland where the ferry landing then was, which right was made exclusive within said limits for the term of ten years from the passage of the act. It now seems to be held that this act confers upon the owners of the ferry the right to land their ferry boats at any other street in the city than such as might be designated for such use by the council. This is not clear when considered in connection with the above mentioned authority vested in the council by the charter to regulate landings at the foot of the streets terminating at the river. By ordinance No. 431, approved Sept. 2, 1867, the foot of Stark street was designated as a landing for this ferry boat, and by section 2 of that ordinance it is provided that "No one ferry owner or owners shall have the use of more than one landing." It has been decided by the courts that acts of the legislature such as the one above referred to are not grants which cannot be recalled nor in the nature of contracts which cannot be impaired, but are mere licenses, revokable at the legislative will. Such was the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the case of Charles River Bridge vs. Warren Bridge, (11 Pet., 420.) So that even if the license contained in the above mentioned act of the legislature is capable of the broad construction claimed for it, of authorizing, at that time, the owners of the ferry to land their boats promiscuously at such streets as they might select, yet the virtual revocation of that license contained in the city charter, since enacted by the legislature of the state, would seem to leave no doubt as to the power of the council over this matter. This is a question of importance not only to the plaintiffs in this suit and the owners of property similarly situated, but to the people at large of our young and rapidly growing city, and as the case will doubtless be appealed to the supreme court it is earnestly to be hoped that that tribunal will not fail duly and properly to consider the questions involved before affirming the judgment.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Second in importance among the industries in which the people of this northwest coast are engaged is that of wool production. The range and climate are peculiarly adapted to this business, and when more extensive facilities for its manufacture into the various fabrics which enter so largely into the world's commerce have been established, there is every reason to believe that wool growing will become one of the chief sources of wealth to our people. A convention of the wool manufacturers of the country was in session in Philadelphia last month, and in its deliberations some facts were brought out which are of interest to all who are engaged in producing wool in this country. The statistics of the wool trade, for example, as brought out in the reports will be unexpected and startling to the majority of people. The importation of carpets in 1872 was valued at $6,000,000; in 1878 it was reduced to $88,850. In dress goods the decrease in importation amounted to $8,000,000 in six years, in spite of the increase in our population and the growth of luxurious tastes among our wealthier classes. The cause is to be found in the marked improvement in American woolen goods. The most devout worshipper of fashion or stickler for durability no longer hesitates to cover his floors with American Axminster and Wilton carpets. The point to be noted is, that equally commensurate with the advance of these carpet manufacturers in the thoroughness and taste shown in their work has been the expansion of their trade. One firm alone, which has aimed to keep its work up to the highest standard, has steadily increased its production until it is reported as consuming 7,000,000 pounds of wool per annum. The progress of any trade up or down during the years is always one of the surest proofs of how honesty pays in dollars and cents. The city of Philadelphia alone produces 40,000,000 yards of carpeting, more per annum than does the whole of Great Britain, while the carpet manufacture of the United States more than doubles that of the United Kingdom, and this, too, represents the higher grades of carpet as well as the lower. American dress goods of a certain kind though not the best grades already compare favorably with those of foreign manufacture. If the best kind of work has paid in carpets, why will it not pay in every branch of the trade? Why cannot our cheviots, merinos and cashmeres be brought to a level with the Saxony and French?

A point which was also brought out in the conferences of the manufacturers was the different condition of the skilled workmen in this trade here and in Europe. In Bradford, the seat of the wool industry, a weaver, however sober and industrious, is able to make at the outside only $7 50 per week, and his wife $1 76. Weavers here, on hand-looms can easily earn at piece work from $10 to $12 per week, and a woman $9. On the power-loom work the wages are higher. When we consider the lower rates of living here it is little wonder that the mills in Bradford closed a month or two ago, from strikes, and that their skilled workmen are emigrating in bodies of hundreds. Here, as a mill-owner suggested at the convention, the workman not only lives by making carpets, but is able to buy them; hence the United States, with a population of one-tenth of Great Britain and all her colonies, makes and sells twice as many carpets.

It requires no prophetic insight to foretell the rapid increase in the next ten years of this industry. As our waste lands are opened sheep husbandry is brought more prominently each year before the people as an investment in which little is likely to be lost and much may be made. Crutchfield, the most skillful and successful sheep-raiser in Tennessee, stated last year that he began in 1864 with a flock of twenty ordinary ewes; value, $100. In twelve years, through careful breeding, he had increased the value of his flock (clear of expenses) to $4817; thus paying a large percentage on the capital invested. Proportionately with the increase of wool manufacture the chances of success for the wool-grower will become certainty.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette has been down to the shoestring district in Mississippi, which is represented in congress by Gen. Chalmers, and tells how a district with three times as many blacks as whites is induced to send a democrat to congress. It is at present the settled policy of the whites (democrats) to give good offices to the blacks at home, in return for which the whites are to have absolute control of the congressmen and state officers; and at the late election, one white and two colored republicans were elected on the regular democratic ticket to the legislature, and also a pronounced republican as district attorney. The correspondent concludes with the remark: "It is confidently believed that this will attach the negroes firmly to the democratic party and prevent further trouble, and I don't see why it should not." Col. Huntington, who is vouched for as "a staunch republican, a scholar and close observer," stated that this method of dividing the offices works well, and that in due time the whites and blacks will be in perfect accord.

A professor in the Iowa State University, lately elected to the state senate, is charged with having purchased eighty kegs of beer to bring about his election; and the way the temperance papers are going for that professor is a caution to other aspirants for office in that state not to go into the beer business by the wholesale.

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit the seeds of disease to fasten until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of attaining happiness destroyed, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, stomach and Bladder, be cured without fail.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN
WASHINGTON Dec 4 12:40 A M [illegible]

CITY.

COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET.—A complimentary dinner was given last night to Mr W [illegible] Molson to the [illegible] the Olympic Club the W[illegible] and the [illegible] of these organizations being [illegible] and aggregating an attendance of [illegible] one hundred [illegible] dining room of [illegible] decorated for the occasion [illegible] and gracefully [illegible] brilliantly illuminated. The table [illegible] there were four [illegible] and the dinner consisting of ten courses was elegant and well served [illegible] was altogether of personal interest [illegible] an outline and rationale [illegible] stated in the purpose of the organization [illegible] mentioned and the speeches [illegible] which the entertainment was interspersed [illegible] referred specially to athletic matters. The clergy, the bar, the medical profession and the press, all represented [illegible] were not forgotten and were all [illegible] hearty bumpers. The occasion was [illegible] cordial sociability and enjoyment and [illegible] an epoch in the record of [illegible] in Portland

HUNTING A HUSBAND —Yesterday [illegible] a rather neatly dressed woman carrying a young babe, applied to the police authorities for information concerning J Morgan stating that she came from San Francisco and claiming that he was her husband. It will be remembered that Morgan's wife or supposed wife, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide about six weeks ago on [illegible] street, between 3rd and 4th. The woman stated that she had formerly lived here but had gone to San Francisco about four months ago and had not heard from Morgan since. During her stay at the bay city her babe was born. She seemed shocked when she learned that Morgan was living with another woman as his wife, but expressed a willingness to forgive him if he would return to her. Morgan left the city about two weeks ago for Vancouver

HEN WING TO BE RELEASED —Detective J C Ross stated to an OREGONIAN reporter last night that he was satisfied from information received within the last two days that the man who has been incarcerated in the county jail for the past three weeks under the belief that he was the Colorado murderer, Jackson [illegible], is not the real criminal but that he is Hen Wing as claimed by the prisoner and his friends. Wing will be released from custody as soon as Sheriff Norden returns from Oregon City, where he has been this week attending the Bernard and Fairchild trial

BARLOW ROAD IN GOOD CONDITION —From Mr Martin Bates, toll keeper on the Barlow road, we learn that travel over the Cascades still continues. Last week 140 head of cattle, destined for the markets of Portland were driven from the bunch grass plains across the mountains for A. H Johnson reaching this city Monday. The greatest fall of snow on the summit was forty inches but a trail was easily kept open by the travel. The heavy rains of the last few days have melted most of the snow

MEET THE VIEWERS —Messrs John Harlow, [illegible] Hogue and Frank Dekum the viewers in the matter of the petition of John [illegible] and others, for change in location of the county road from the city to the [illegible], will proceed over the line of the proposed change of road on Monday morning December 8 1879 and residents and property owners along the line of said road who may have complaints or suggestions to make are requested to meet the viewers at the time, or present their claims before the county court on or before Wednesday, Dec 10, at 10 A M

WILLAMETTE RIVER RISING —Rains for the past few days throughout the valley have caused the upper Willamette to rise two to [illegible] feet, and there is excellent boating stage to Corvallis. The Oregon Steam Navigation company's and the independent steamers will now be enabled to transport the large amount of wheat awaiting shipment at the warehouses along the banks to the city

ELECTION —At a meeting of Hope Lodge No [illegible] A O. U. W, held last evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: C. B Hoffman, M W, J C Moreland, G F; J. L. Smith, O J A Knapp, Recorder; George Stowell Guide, C P [illegible], Financier; A Zeiber, Receiver A [illegible], I. W, F W Robinson, O W, A [illegible], Trustee

THE MURDER TRIAL AT OREGON CITY — [illegible] witnesses, in all, were examined in the trial of Bernard and Fairchild at Oregon City. At half past three Hon J F [illegible] commenced the closing argument [illegible] probably went to the jury before [illegible]. When the telegraph office at Oregon City closed last night no verdict had been reached.

SEND IN YOUR BILLS —The following order was made yesterday by the county court and is published for the benefit of the public: Ordered that all persons having claims against the county to present the same at the office of the county clerk on or before the [illegible] day of each month to ensure the same being audited or considered

WEDDING —The Eberhard Cone nuptials which were consummated at the residence of the bride's parents on Monday were well attended and subsequently at the residence of the groom's parents a grand supper and ball closed the festivities. The friends of the wedded pair wish them a pleasant future

RAILROAD ROAD BED —The Western Oregon Railroad is having hauled on Fourth street for road bed for the track a splendid lot of [illegible] rock, which seems to be as hard as [illegible]. The rock came here as ballast in the ship David Law, and are probably the best for the purpose desired ever quarried

ANNUAL MEETING —The First Congregational Church of Portland holds its annual meeting to-night at 7 30. There will be reports from the pastor and the Sunday school superintendent of the work of the past year and the election of officers. A full attendance of all the members is requested

TEMPERANCE ENTERTAINMENT —Multnomah Lodge, I. O G T give an open session this evening at their hall corner of Third and Alder streets. There will be a lecture by a noted temperance orator and a musical and literary programme. There will be no charge for admission

UP THE COLUMBIA —The following telegrams from the several points mentioned will indicate the state of the weather up the Columbia: Cascades raining ther 4[illegible]. Hood River raining ther 47°. Celilo clear ther. 38°, Wallula, cloudy ther. 34.

A SUITABLE ROOM SECURED —The State Poultry and Pet Stock Association have secured the corner room of the new block of [illegible] the O S N Co's building, Front and Ash streets, for the annual exhibition which commences next Monday

FROM THE [illegible] M NEIL —The [illegible] brought up yesterday from A[illegible] the ship Ellen McNeil 204 tons of [illegible] and [illegible] was consigned to merchants in this [illegible] she returned last night for another load

BOUGHT AN INTEREST —Mr H [illegible] Davies, owner of the [illegible] a [illegible] gentleman on the river has purchased an interest in the [illegible]. He merits abounded success [illegible]

GUBERNATORIAL NON INTERFERENCE

Gov Thayer Refuses to Commute the Death Sentence of Ah Lee—He Thinks the Supreme Court should Decide the only Point laid before him

[illegible]

It is [illegible] however that deliberation [illegible] of the killing and the kind of weapon [illegible] the statement furnished by the judge it appears that no evidence other than that was adduced upon this point at the trial of the case. It appears from the bill of exceptions that in the charge to the jury the judge instructed them that if a man with [illegible] the head with an ax it would be deemed a premeditated violence

Whatever might be my opinion as to the correctness of this instruction I would not feel like acting upon it in this case. It is purely a question of law which should be determined by the courts and not by the executive. As it was excepted to upon the trial and the case is appealed to the supreme court it is much more proper to say the least that it should be left to the court to determine

There being no other grounds set forth in the petition as I view the matter which would justify executive interference with the sentence of the court I feel constrained to refuse the petition. W W THAYER, Governor of Oregon

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST HELENA

SANITARY VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD ROCK HILL WINES

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox government revenue officer at Cincinnati Ohio says in his report that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few of any pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties addressed to Wm Scheffler or Geo H Beach St Helena Napa county, Cal will receive prompt attention

A DISAPPOINTED HUSBAND

How many young husbands have been awakened from their dreams of domestic happiness and prosperity by the anxious care of a sickly wife. The home is not the elysium the lover pictured. It is almost always gloomy with invalid complaints. Sweet winged Hope that at first presided on its hearthstone, so [illegible] and an ominous bird is there instead croaking of disappointment. The many little household duties that it should be the delight of the wife to perform are confided to strangers. The home soon becomes one only in name and the disappointed husband seeks pleasure and society elsewhere and goes downward step by step from vice to vice until the ruin is complete and all because a wife has lost her health and with it her temper and all those sweet womanly graces that can alone retain the love the maiden had won. Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an efficacious remedy for the painful diseases and weaknesses incident to the female organism. It is both a tonic and a nervine strengthening the parts as well as remedying the diseased condition

THURSDAY MORNING DEC 4 1879

JUDGE DEADY'S DECISION.

the defendant is entitled to take under the act as a missionary society all the grant should be confined to the land [illegible] occupied [illegible]

This grant unlike the one made by the donation [illegible] the purview of the [illegible] could not have been the intention of congress in the [illegible] occupied [illegible] his actual enclosure at [illegible] Act of September [illegible] was [illegible] the act of August 14 1848 [illegible] settlers [illegible] then residing in the territory for himself and wife [illegible] resided [illegible] cultivated [illegible] consecutive years [illegible] cultivation was not required to include the whole section. In fact the actual enclosure and cultivation was often confined to a very few acres while the remainder was only occupied for grazing and [illegible] hardly that

Very early in the settlement of [illegible] it became a cardinal rule that a settlement on the public lands should not include any more than a section. This was probably suggested by the terms of the Oregon bill introduced into the senate by Dr Linn of Missouri, in 1842 which among other things proposed to give 640 acres of land to each white male inhabitant of the territory over 18 years of age. Prior to this time the missionaries had claimed large areas at their several stations but as generally there was no one to dispute such claims it mattered little one way or the other. In December 1843 the mission at Salem was surveyed and platted a [illegible] sections. But on July 5 1843 the people formed a land law which limited the extent of a claim or settlement to 640 acres with a proviso that any mission of religious character established before that time might contain six miles square (Or Laws 1874 p 50 n)

Under these circumstances I think the grant to the missionary societies ought to be construed to include 640 acres at each mission station occupied by them—that is claimed and used by them according to the circumstances of the time and place and not in the actual occupation of any one else

In the case under consideration there does not appear to have been any survey or marking on the ground of the boundaries or limits of the claim until June 1850. But it was doubtless well understood by the occupants and the Indians, that it should extend a certain distance in certain directions or that it should include certain points or places—as the improvements, the mill site etc though I do not think that it was ever expected or intended that it should extend north of the bluff, between which and the river—a distance of about half a mile—were the villages and camping ground of the Indians and voyageurs up and down the Columbia river

And this brings me to the consideration of the question whether upon the evidence the defendant occupied this mission station so as to be entitled to the grant thereof under the act of August 14 1848

The evidence is somewhat meagre and upon some points contradictory. It consists largely of the testimony of persons deeply in sympathy with the defendant, to facts and circumstances occurring thirty years ago, and scattered over a considerable period of time. The correspondence between the defendant and its agents here concerning the occupation and transfer of this station is not produced. It is presumed to have been in writing and within the knowledge and control of the defendant, and therefore the omission to produce it is a matter which must have more or less weight against the defendant, according to the circumstances of the case. Portions of the evidence partake of the character of hearsay, and some of it is decidedly argumentative. In considering it it will be impossible to ignore the history of the period and place to which it relates. Reading it, then, by this light, and where it is contradictory or obscure, supplementing it from this source, the material facts about the settlement and occupation of the mission station at The Dalles are these

In the spring of 1838 the Rev. Daniel Lee and Rev H K W Perkins, under the direction of the Rev Jason Lee, the superintendent of the defendant in Oregon, established a mission station within the limits of the tract described in the patent herein, at a place then called Wascopam. In the fall of the same year it was stocked with cattle from the Wallamet valley. The place was favorably situated for trade and intercourse with the Indians and immigrants from the east—the latter usually, at this point, exchanging their wagons for boats and often bartering their poor oxen for supplies—such as fresh beef and the like

In 1840 Mr H B Brewer went to reside there as a farmer for the mission. Perkins and Lee left the mission for the east in 1844 and the Rev. A F Waller joined it about the same time. Waller and Brewer remained there until the transfer of the station to Whitman in 1847. In 1844 the Rev George Gary superseded Jason Lee as superintendent of the Oregon mission. Apparently the society had become dissatisfied with the secular character and cost of the missionary operations and sent Gary here to bring about a change in this respect. To this end, soon after his arrival in the territory, the various mission stations, except The Dalles, and all the mission property consisting mainly of large herds of horses and cattle were disposed of to members of the mission, so that after 1844 the defendant had no "mission among the Indian tribes" in Oregon except at The Dalles. Thereafter the labors of its faithful clerical missionaries of whom but a few remained in the country were devoted to the growing "white settlements" in the Wallamet valley. In the language of one of them—"The finances of the Oregon mission were thus summarily brought to a close, and the mission was not only relieved of a ponderous load, but assumed a decidedly spiritual character" (Hines, Oregon, 242)

In July, 1847, Mr. Gary was succeeded as superintendent of the mission by the Rev William Roberts. Prior to this and in the spring of that year, Mr Gary had disposed of nearly all the live stock of The Dalles mission station and was negotiating with Dr Whitman for the transfer of the station itself. Mr Roberts, in continuation of the policy, manifested by his predecessor followed up these negotiations until in August an agreement was made for the abandonment or transfer of the station to Whitman together with the sale of a canoe, some farming utensils grain and household furniture for the sum of $600, and between September 1 and 10, 1847, Messrs Waller and Brewer the agents of the defendant delivered the possession of the premises to Whitman, who took actual possession thereof and placed his nephew—Perrin B Whitman a youth of 17 years—in charge, while he proceeded to his mission station at Wallatpu

Dr Whitman was not a minister, but at the time of the transfer of this station to him it was understood and expected that religious services and instruction would be in some way kept up there for the benefit of the Indians but there was no legal obligation to that effect, nor did the defendant or its agents have any intention or expectation of returning or occupying the station if such services and instruction was not furnished or otherwise. In pursuance of the settled policy of the defendant, the station was absolutely and unqualifiedly abandoned to Dr Whitman without any reservation or right to resume the possession under any circumstances

Dr Whitman whatever his purpose may have been in regard to the Indians purchased the station primarily for himself and nephew, Perrin B, to whom he promised the west half of it if he would remain and take care of it until the spring when the former intended to return there and make it his permanent home

At the time the defendant abandoned the station there was about 70 acres under some kind of enclosure about one half of which had been under cultivation. There were [illegible] moderate sized buildings upon the premises, a dwelling, meeting [illegible] house and [illegible] barn and workshop but all [illegible] except the dwelling which was a frame filled in with adobe. The buildings were [illegible] constructed mostly with [illegible] they were [illegible]—June 18 1861 [illegible] from the United States [illegible] estimate [illegible] Hon [illegible]

On November 29 [illegible] Whitman and others were murdered at Walatpu by [illegible] Indians of that [illegible] by which [illegible] which the people of Oregon [illegible] the Cayuse Indians [illegible] peace [illegible] of the same [illegible] from the country and returned to their homes

About December [illegible] Perrin B Whitman who had remained in charge of the [illegible] the Dalles [illegible] for the Wallamet valley taking with him Mr. Alanson Hinman, whom his uncle had sent there from Walatpu in October as a farmer and housekeeper. A detachment of volunteers soon after occupied the premises with the permission of said Whitman [illegible] remained in the possession of the troops of the provisional government until they were withdrawn [illegible] The latter the premises remained [illegible] and immigrants until the spring of [illegible] by the United States and the premises [illegible] military reserve.

There were [illegible] in 1848 and 1849 [illegible]

[illegible] prevented [illegible] either for himself or as the agent of [illegible] Whitman [illegible] American [illegible] Walker Henry H [illegible] three missionaries of the American Board by whom the station was [illegible] to the defendant and the [illegible] any view of resuming mission work there among the Indians or otherwise but solely to enable [illegible] to obtain if it could a grant of the premises from the United States on account of its occupation prior to September 1847 and the subsequent circumstances. For the same [illegible] and to assist it in obtaining damages from the United States for taking a portion of the same as a military reservation the defendant on February 28 1860 obtained from the American Board a formal deed of quit claim to the premises although on November 18 [illegible] Messrs Walker and [illegible] professing to act upon a power to them from said board dated February 28 1852 for a nominal consideration and conveyed the premises subject to the military reservation to Messrs M M McCarver and Samuel L White

Upon this state of facts there is no ground to claim that the defendant acquired the title to this station on August 14 1848 under the act of that date. It had abandoned the same voluntarily and without any expectation or intention of returning and was no more within the purview or operation of the act than if it had never been upon the ground. The grant only applies to such stations as were occupied on August 14 1848. To occupy is to possess—not constructively but actually. The word is of a more limited signification than possession. It is derived from ob and capio—to lay hold of—and means to possess by having hold of or being actually upon the thing possessed continuously and exclusively. Therefore there can be no such thing as constructive occupancy. But when one has the complete legal title to land and is therefore entitled to the possession of the same in law he is deemed to have it (U S v Arredondo 6 Pet 743) But prior to August 14 1848 there could be no such possession of lands in Oregon because the legal title was in the United States. Occupancy or actual possession was the only interest any one then had in lands in Oregon, and when that was given up or abandoned the relation of the party to the land was absolutely terminated and it was open to occupation by the next comer as though the foot of man had never been upon it (Lownsdale v City of Portland 1 Deady 1)

Prior to August 14 1848 the only interest which the defendant had in the premises was that of occupancy or actual possession. It therefore could have no constructive possession of the land. If this actual possession or occupancy existed at the passage of the act making the grant the title of the United States was then and thereby and on that account vested in the defendant, but not otherwise. The act makes the grant to take effect not upon an occupation which preceded or followed it, but upon that which was contemporaneous with it. The grant was made upon the condition precedent that the defendant was then in the occupation of the premises. Intention or desire to occupy is of no avail and for the want of this occupation there is no excuse or equivalent. Even taking the view of the matter sought to be maintained by the defendant that it was prevented from occupying the premises on August 14 1848, by Indian hostilities, still the case clearly falls within the ruling in Ford v Kennedy, 1 Or 166 in which it was held that the grant in § 4 of the donation act of 640 acres of land to married persons who had resided upon the same for 4 years prior thereto or to their heirs in case of their death before the patent issued, did not include the heirs of married persons who had died before the passage of the act, because, by the terms thereof the grant was limited to persons residing in the territory at the time of its passage—then in being. So in this case the grant only applies to stations then occupied for missionary purposes and if for any reason a station was not then so occupied it is not within the purview of the act—it matters not how long or how effectively missionary operations had been carried on there at some former period. The station at Wallatpu would in all probability have been occupied by the Presbyterian Society on August 14 1848 but for the massacre of the missionaries there on November 29 1847. But this fact did not excuse or was not equivalent to such occupation. Therefore, in the passage of the act to organize Washington territory passed March 2 1853, when congress had this subject before them with reference to the missionary stations in the proposed territory, the grant was repeated in the terms of the Oregon act with the addition of the words "or that may have been so occupied as missionary stations prior to the passage of the act establishing the territorial government of Oregon." This change was manifestly made to meet the case of the Waiilatpu mission which was not occupied as a mission station on August 14 1848 and upon the theory that for want of such occupancy it was not granted by the Oregon act (10 [illegible]) to the society which Dr Whitman represented during his residence upon it prior and up to the time of his death. But such want of occupancy being neither the result of a voluntary abandonment or a fleeing like the hireling from the wolf but of the death of the faithful occupant at his post by Indian treachery and violence, congress was induced to extend the terms of the grant so as to include that case

But as has been shown there is not the slightest ground for saying that The Dalles station was abandoned by the defendant's missionaries on account of fear of the Indians or that such cause prevented its occupation by them in August 1848. On the contrary they deliberately abandoned it without any intention of returning because of a change of policy on the part of the society and if the act of 1848 had not contained the clause making grants of mission stations as it did it is morally certain that we would never have heard of this manifest afterthought that Whitman was to keep up the missionary work at The Dalles in some sense as the representative of and for the defendant and that upon his death the station would have been reoccupied and held by it as a mission but for fear of the Indians

But it is urged that congress has recognized the validity of the defendant's claim to this land by the passage of the act of June 16 1860 (12 Stat 44) for the relief of the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal Church which provided, that there should be paid to said society the sum of $20,000 upon filing in the proper department a release to the United States to be approved by the attorney general of all claim to the land embraced within the limits of the military reserve at the Dalles in Oregon territory [illegible] and all claim to damages for [illegible] or use [illegible] the [illegible] troops or volunteers or [illegible]

[illegible] comprehend the motive and scope [illegible] it is [illegible] to state that [illegible] military reservation [illegible] had covered a [illegible] of quarter [illegible] an order from the war department [illegible] to 640 acres to be [illegible]

[illegible] the erection of [illegible]

[illegible] On January [illegible]

[illegible] at [illegible] was [illegible] the possession [illegible] the premises but the United [illegible] taken possession [illegible] military reservation

The committee seem to have avoided saying that the society was in the occupation of the premises on August 14 1848 but [illegible] the more indefinite and convenient term possession [illegible] congress [illegible]

This is one of the [illegible] legal [illegible]

[illegible] sum of $20,000 in satisfaction of its [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] release [illegible] the defendant of its right if any to the enclosure [illegible] claim [illegible] by the [illegible] and damages for the loss or destruction of property which is not even an admission by the United States to whom the release was made that the defendant ever had a right to either but only that it was [illegible] deemed expedient to [illegible] and extinguish [illegible] Bright v [illegible] Walker [illegible] Wal 28 [illegible] 9 Wal 100

Besides this one of the plaintiffs and [illegible] low under whom the others claim had already acquired rights in the premises under the town site and donation acts which congress could not deprive them of even if they had been parties to this proceeding which resulted in the payment to the defendant. Congress has the power to dispose of the public lands and to make compensation for private property taken for public uses, but it has not judicial power and therefore cannot finally determine conflicting claims to land although arising under its own grants or laws

But since this payment to the defendant of $20,000 there is no longer any cause for regarding it as even morally entitled to anything from the public on account of its missionary operations at The Dalles. In 1847 when the place was abandoned by the defendant it had no market value because there being no white people east of the Cascade mountains except the Presbyterian and Roman Catholic missionaries there were no other purchasers for it and rather than let it fall into the hands of the latter it was disposed of to Dr Whitman for $600. And it appears that he was induced to make the purchase even at that figure as much to prevent the priests from getting hold of the position as anything else. In 1860 when the claim was taken by the military it probably could not have been sold with a good title for $1000 and even as late as 1864 when the town had commenced to grow the sum paid the defendant by the United States for the one half of it was more than double the value of the whole of it

The conclusion of the court is that the defendant did not occupy the premises on August 14 1848 as a missionary station or otherwise either by itself or the American Board and that it was not deterred from so doing by the danger from Indian hostilities but voluntarily abandoned the same before September 10 1847 without any intention or expectation of reoccupying it under any circumstances, and therefore the patent therefor to the defendant was wrongfully issued and the decrees of the court will be that the defendant be declared a trustee for the several plaintiffs herein, for so much of the premises described in the patent as is claimed by them in their several suits and that the defendan, within 90 days by a sufficient conveyance or conveyances containing proper covenants against its own acts to be approved by the [illegible] of this court release to the said plaintiffs accordingly all right and [illegible] to said premises and that it pay the plaintiffs their costs and expenses of suit

AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 3—The steamer Australia from Sydney via Honolulu has arrived. She brings British mail from New Zealand to November 11th. After a period of most obstructive opposition four Auckland members seceded enabling the government to challenge the opposition and bring on a want of confidence motion. The moderate independent members joining the government have a good working majority and the opposition ceased obstruction and withdrew their want of confidence motion deciding to proceed to business. All government measures for electoral reform were read a second time and no further delay is anticipated. The session closes the first week in December
